REVOLVERS.

A revolver is a nickel-plated substitute for bravery, which has practically driven the original article out of the market.

The revolver gives a puny man with a 5-8-inch brain and the pluck of a grasshopper a 100-yard reach and makes him more deadly than a Sioux Indian.

There was a time when this country had no dangerous animals, except bears and wolves, and life was safe, except on the frontiers, but now vast hordes of 16-year-old boys who use their skulls for a dime novel bookcase, roam the streets with cigarettes in their faces and portable cannon in their hip pockets, producing obituaries with the skill and enthusiasm of a cholera microbe; while it is at all times possible to meet a personal enemy who has been chasing you for a week, and who is reluctantly compelled to defend himself when he catches you by filling you so full of lead that your remains will require eight pall bearers.

Revolvers are now so generally used in debate, in domestic quarrels and repartee of all sorts that 8,000 Americans die of them each year, it is said.—Mitchell (S. D.) Gazette.

WAR SITUATION.

The Russian troops have forced the passes in the Carpathian mountains and are rushing down the slopes to overrun Hungary. The French are said to be slowly driving the Germans back. A German sea raider, Kron Prinz Wilhelm, slipped into Newport News, recently in spite of the entrance to the harbor being closely guarded by British and French warships. The Germans continue to sink English vessels in the English channel.

THE WHY OF THE LEGISLATIVE RECESS*Senator Lea Is Feeling of the Political Situation to Determine His Attitude Toward the Proposed Primary Election Law.

Nashville, Tenn., April 13.—Politicians with an inquiring turn of mind did not have far to go to find a reason for the interest Senator Lea had in advocating a legislative recess until May 3rd. It was apparent that he was active in behalf of an adjournment for any length of time beyond the first of May and it was said that he preferred that the General Assembly should not meet again until August.

Only a few days prior to the recess a general primary bill was introduced. This bill includes the provisions that some of Senator Lea's political opponents have said he would like to insert and the supposition is that it was drawn to conform with his idea of what he needs in his race for re-nomination.

The elimination of the "run off" feature is regarded by Senator Lea as one of the advantageous phases and he has insisted on that provision from the beginning.

ELECTION BOARD.

But there are other features to be considered and which evidently he has not overlooked. The State Board of Elections with two new members, Capt. J. M. Bracken and the Hon. Lit Pardue, met and reorganized with Capt. Bracken chairman and Mr. Pardue secretary. The board is required by law to meet and announce the selection of members of the county boards by May first.

Senator Lea's friends boasted that he controlled the board but it appears that he does not rely on the board entirely. Had he believed the state board would be subservient to his desires he probably would not have had the primary bill introduced; had he been certain that he would not receive a decided advantage in the selection of county members, on the other hand, he probably would have urged the passage of the primary bill before recess.

If the Legislature fails to provide for a legalized primary for the nomination of United States senators and Congressmen that function will be left to the discretion of the committees of the different party organizations.

PATRONAGE BAIT.

The assumption at the time of the selection of the members of the executive committee was that it would not be dominated by Senator Lea. The constant dangle of patronage before the eyes of the members may have changed the factional complexion of the committee but it is not believed that the members can be purchased either with the delivery of federal patronage or by vague promises.

That however remains to be seen. The attitude of the committee was well known at the time of organization; just what it is now can best be determined by the friends of the members who are in close touch with them.

If by any form of manipulation Senator Lea can gain possession of the state committee it is not expected that he will urge the passage of the primary bill. If he cannot control the committee he does not propose to allow the committee to have anything to do with the arrangements for nominating party candidates.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

At present it appears that Senator Lea has his eyes on the State Committee, the State Board of Elections and the Legislature with the view of ascertaining which organization he is capable of dominating. The thirty days' respite will give him ample opportunity to determine the alignments of the members of the executive committee; the appointments made by the State Board of Elections will determine its attitude and then he may proceed to urge a primary law suited to his purpose or he may drop it as appears to be to his advantage.

The attitude of the other nine members of the Tennessee delegation in Congress in making no effort to dominate the legislature or to dictate to it is in striking contrast to the attitude of Senator Lea who has utilized every moment of his time since the legislature convened in January toward furthering his political interests and making every interest of the state subservient to his own so far as he could dominate the Legislature.

LAND SALE.

By virtue of an Order of Sale issued to me by the clerk of the Circuit court of Cumberland county, Tennessee, in the case of Manufacturers National Bank, Harriman, Tennessee, vs J. S. Cline, I will, at the court house door, in Crossville, Tennessee, at one o'clock p. m., on Saturday, April 24, 1915, sell to the highest and best bidder for cash in hand the following tracts of land:

First Tract: Lying in the 4th civil district of Cumberland county, Tennessee, beginning on a white oak and white oak pointers, in Noah Hatfield's fence, on the east side of Daddys creek; thence by metes and bounds, which are fully set out in the Order of Sale, in my hands, containing 90 acres.

Second Tract: Beginning at a stone 176 poles east of Daddy creek, a corner of DeRossett's land, a few steps north of the road leading from Crab Orchard to Robert Barnes place; thence bounded by metes and bounds, which are fully set out in the Order of Sale in my hands, containing 148 acres, more or less.

Third Tract: Lying in the 4th civil district of Cumberland county, Tennessee, beginning on a maple, on the east side of Daddys creek; thence bounded by metes and bounds, which are fully set out in the Order of Sale in my hands, containing 100 acres, more or less.

Said land is levied on as the property of J. S. Cline to satisfy a judgement that said bank recovered against him in said court and the costs.
